

EEN BRIEF UIT AUSTRALIE: EEN OPROEP

A number of people are at present engaged in a major revision of the families Rissoidae and Rissoinidae. It is desirable that work in this field be coordinated and to this end I am writing to ask that anyone who is at present working, has worked, or will be working on the classification or biology of these families would get in touch with me. The present workers known to me are:

Eugene Coan, Dept. of Geology, Stanford University Palo Alto, California who is especially interested in the classification of both families in connection with the publication of the Treatise on Invertebrate Palaeontology.

Winston Ponder, Dept. of Zoology, University of Auckland, New Zealand, who is working on the anatomy and reclassification of the New Zealand groups.

I have been working in conjunction with the Dept. of Molluscs of the Australian Museum Sydney NSW on the classification of Australian wide and West Pacific forms and should be happy to hear from other workers anywhere in the world who may be interested or working along related lines.
