

SOCIETA' ITALIANA DI MALACOLOGIA

A new Italian Malacological society named SOCIETA' ITALIANA DI MALACOLOGIA (SIM) is operating from the beginning of 1983.

After about twenty years of activity the previous two old societies existing in Italy, Società Malacologica Italiana and Unione Malacologica Italiana, decided to converge and to join their own interests, activities, researches, congresses and publications in a sole association. By this initiative Italian malacologists hope to act in the future in a dynamic and amplified way in Italy and abroad, through their best contacts, thus assuring a better and modern range of facilities.

The new society will fulfil all the international engagements made by the previous Italian societies of Malacology. Two different reviews are keeping up the Italian publications of Malacology already well known abroad:

- BOLLETTINO MALACOLOGICO as the SIM official journal
- LAVORI SIM collecting Acta from congresses and meetings held in Italy
- NOTIZIARIO SIM (newsletter)

We invite all European and extra-European malacologists, scientific Institutes and Museums, to join the new society, writing for subscription to:

SOCIETA' ITALIANA DI MALACOLOGIA

Viale Gadio 2
